Fannie Glover Elected New CCAoA Board Member

Child Care Aware® of America (CCAoA) announced the election of six new members to their board of directors, one of which being our very own Fannie Glover. Fannie is ECLC’s Director of Equity & Inclusion and is among six new members of the board that will have the unique opportunity to help shape the future of CCAoA and provide leadership as they continue efforts to ensure quality, affordable child care for all children.

More about Fannie:

Fannie Glover is the Director of Equity & Inclusion at the Early Care & Learning Council in Albany, responsible for the equity, diversity and inclusion efforts for the statewide network. ECLC is a statewide membership organization that represents 35 Child Care Resource and Referral programs covering all 62 counties of New York State. Glover has more than 15 years’ experience in human resources and holds a degree in organizational development. She also is a trained facilitator for the Anti-Defamation League, an organization designed to build bridges of communication, understanding and respect among diverse groups. Glover recently completed the BUILD Equity Leaders Action Network Fellowship, where she represented New York State as part of a national team advancing racial equity in early childhood systems.
